NEWPORT:
Published every morning (Sundays excepted)
BY GEORGE T. HAMMOND,
At 123 Thames Street.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1859.

The "News" by Steam.

Our issue this morning was printed on our NEW STEAM CYLINDER press, at the DAILY NEWS press room in Church Street, being, probably, the first Newport newspaper ever issued by steam, and certainly the only one which has introduced it as a motive power for its daily publication.

Ever since the "News" establishment came into the hands of its present proprietor, he has labored under what has been, until now, an insurmountable difficulty in the printing of the newspaper work issued from his press, caused by the incapacity of his "Adams Power Press," to do well and promptly the amount of labor required in producing the increasing circulation of his publications.

The Daily News has at times, and in act for weeks together, presented a most deplorable appearance, which has been noted by our subscribers and citizens, many whom—the latter we mean—have vindictively brought it as much to public notice as possible, and thus injured us, by the exaggeration of our misfortunes, rather than our errors, in the minds of those who could neither understand or appreciate the difficulties under which we have labored. In justice to our subscribers, it is but fair to say, that with one single exception, we have had little cause to complain; they have observed that the inconvenience of poorly printed sheet to them, was trifling compared to the disappointment and chagrin to us, and their "words" have been words of pleasantness, which have encouraged us to keep on doing our best, with the assurance of good will and assistance.

We think we hear many say—"Why didn't you buy a new press, if your old one won't good enough? This is a poor excuse to give!"

Simply because we were not able, the cost of such a press, as would meet our wants at the manufacturer's, is nearly three thousand dollars, and that sum is a very large one to be incurred by a poor young publisher, in the ancient city of Newport, without influential friends, and little to depend upon but the labor of his brain and hands. Fortune, however, has dealt with us kindly, and she has at last, as a crowning act of generosity, placed in our means the "balm to cure our disease,"

EDMUND BURKE.—Rogers in his "Recollections of Great Men," gives the following account of the habits of this distinguished orator, on the authority of Dr. Lawrence, a contemporary and intimate friend of Burke:

Burke sleeps but ill, and often rises at day-break, makes the tour of his farm, oversees his men at work, and then returns to bed. Walks in the fields with a spade in his hand, making way upon nettles and breaking clods; and often makes a stop in conversation on the greatest topic to direct the attention of his children to the curious houses of persons who have magnificent libraries; but when I found a party assembled in those houses, of some twenty or twenty-five persons, I have always observed that the first object of attraction was the novel. And out of twenty-five persons, if there were five who looked at other works who studied history, or attended to works of science, it was as much as you could expect. Well, on class, I believe, is very much like another in this respect, and in examining the returns of lending libraries, such as there are in this town, I find the result of the curious inquiry which I have made, is, that in this institution (the Athenaeum) for example, there are I think, 30,000 books taken out to read, and of these were about 17,000 or nearly 18,000 which consisted of novels, while the remainder, or about 10,000, were works of history and of all other descriptions."

What facts would the public libraries of this country furnish for comparison between the readers in our cities and those of Great Britain?

WEISTER AND CROCKETT.—No two characters could be more dissimilar than those of Webster and Crockett. One had penetrated to the profoundest depths of law, statesmanship, and diplomacy. The other had penetrated to the profoundest depths of the forest, and was a passionate lover of its wild delights. Crockett paid Webster a compliment that both pleased and amused him. "It is related that when his celebrated speech upon Footh's resolutions was published, he sent a copy of it to Davy Crockett. Shortly afterwards Davy called upon him to make his acknowledgments for the favor—remarking that it was the only speech that he had ever been enabled to read without the aid of a dictionary. Mr. Webster it is said, frequently remarked, that although perhaps, a compliment was not intended, none was ever bestowed upon him that he valued so highly."—Memphis Bulletin.

HONORS TO MR. MASON IN FRANCE.—When the Emperor Napoleon, who was absent from Paris, learned of the death of Mr. Mason, he telegraphed orders that his own private carriage should be sent to the funeral, and all the officers of his household in Paris should be present; and that a battalion, with muffled drums, should act as escort to the church. This honor was the more significant as it was a departure from Count Mazzini, Mr. Mason being only Minister Plenipotentiary, and Ambassadors only ranking as the personal representatives of sovereigns and rulers.

The New York Times says:

In this instance, as in so many others, Napoleon departed from the strict usage of European Courts, to acknowledge the dignity of a free people. So rigid are the rules which govern the personal action of sovereigns in respect to these matters, that when the first and most famous subject of Great Britain, the Duke of Wellington, was carried to his tomb beneath the dome of London's great cathedral, Queen Victoria refused to pay the savior of England the homage of her own attendance at his obsequies. A dozen American envoys might give up the ghost in London without startling the British Court into such a recognition of the Republic, and its rank among nations, as was tendered by the French Emperor at the funeral of Mr. Mason.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—RAILROAD COLLISION.—There was a serious collision on Thursday on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near Wheeling, between a freight train and passenger train; both locomotives were badly smashed, also several cars. Several passengers sustained slight injuries, among them Mr. Sloan, President of the Hudson River Railroad; Mr. Vail, President of the Troy and Boston Railroad; Mr. Cohen, Superintendent of the Hudson River Railroad. Mr. Sloan was riding on the engine of the passenger train and together with the engineer and fireman jumped off.

RONDRY.—We perceive by the Peck's City Daily Press, that Henry A. Fay was robbed in that city, on the night of the 22nd, to the amount of $70, by burglars who entered the room where he was sleeping.

SAILED.—A Brig Lady of the Lake, Fuller, Calais for New Bedford.

Schooners Eliza Brooks, Snow, Hartford for Providence.

Early, Thompson, Pawtucket for Stamford.

Fashion, Burdick, Fisher's Island—paving stone.

Sloops Helen, Watton, Providence.

Fashion, Holloway, Wickford.

Also arrived, Brig. Capt. Mary Catherine, (of New York), from a cruise.

Reports spoke, of Gay Head, 29th Inst., barque Ethan Allen, of and for Boston, with loss of fore-topgallant mast and bowsprit.

Based up, S. P. M., sloop Congress, Cobleigh, supposed from Elizabethport for Fall River.

SAILED.—ah Elisha Brooks, as above.

IN PORT.—Brig Gov. Hull, discharging

brig Prudent Hobbs, do; schooners L. H. Endicott, for Philadelphia; Oliver Spelman, J. M. Parker, Uncle James Gorham, B. D. Pitts, Victor, and Cha's D. Lovrige, as before; also Achsia Nittieth, of Providence, and Ellen, of Boston, discharging, (not) Bristol, waiting orders. Sloop Farmer, (not) Monroe, as before; Mary F. Sears. Also in port the arrivals of the day, except as reported above.

Wind WNW—moderate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—RAILROAD COLLISION.—There was a serious collision on Thursday on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near Wheeling, between a freight train and passenger train; both locomotives were badly smashed, also several cars. Several passengers sustained

Mr. Vail, President of the Troy and Boston Railroad; Mr. Cohen, Superintendent of the Hudson River Railroad. Mr. Sloan

and Gent's India Rubber Gloves, Mitts, Mittens, and Ring Cols.; also Ladies' Dress

Shields, Pictures, Gots, Caps, &c., &c.

Wholesale and retail dealers in all kinds of

Rubber Boots & Shoes, Toys,

Combs, NURSERY CLOTH,

CLOTHING, &c., &c.

The great improvements which have recently been made in the manufacture of India Rubber Gloves and Mitts, rendering this a desirable article for all.

The Heavy Gloves and Mittens are universally used as a protection in all kinds of acid work, of the Chemist, Druggist and Photographer,

Manufacturing and Handling of Potashes and other strong alkalis, for dyers, drivers in storms, and hose companies in the Fire Departments. Hatters, Farmers, Lumbermen,

Fishermen, and Seamen will find these Gloves and Mittens well adapted for their use. They are much superior to the biot mittens, especially in wet work.

The Light Gloves are used for softening and bleaching the hands; as a speedy and effectual cure for chapped or rough hands,

Salt Alum, &c., they have no equal.

They are very useful while engaged in domestic affairs, such as Sweeping, Dusting, House

Cleaning, all roughing and dirty kinds of work; and particularly useful in Gardening and in the care of Shrubs and Flowers.

For sale by Rubber Dealers generally in

THE "NEWPORT NEWS" STEAM CYLINDER POWER PRESS.

[Builders and Patentees, A. B. TAYLOR & Co., New York.]

OUR NEW PRESS.

The above engraving is hardly a just representation of the DAILY NEWS STEAM PRINTING PRESS, which was built several years since for the METHODIST BOOK ESTABLISHMENT of New York, by Messrs. A. B. TAYLOR & Co., of that city. The press was purchased by Messrs. CRANSTON & NORMAN, of this city, and used for a brief period for pamphlet printing. When they sold out their establishment it was disposed of to B. H. Stevens, Esq., who employed it for a short time in the same business, but with less success than had attended his predecessors. It subsequently came into the hands of his Assignee, who wishing to close up the matter disposed of it for an exceedingly reasonable price to the proprietor of the News, who at considerable expense employed Messrs. A. B. Taylor & Co., to examine and thoroughly repair it, which has now been done to his entire satisfaction, and the press is warranted by them to be as good as new. It is the newest style of cylinder press in use, and contains all the modern improvements, consisting of air springs, sheet flyer, and improved patent registering points, enabling it to do the finest book work with precision. It is one of the largest sized single cylinder presses built, and originally cost $2800. It weighs about 4000 lbs., and will print 3000 sheets per hour. When run by steam it only requires the attention of one pressman, whereas the old Adams power press used by the Daily News required four.

The building No. 10 Church street, has been leased, together with steam power, for the use of this and the other power presses belonging to the News establishment, which will thus have superior facilities for the transaction of its publishing and job printing business, enabling us to contract work from publishing houses in New York, Boston, and other large cities—thus introducing, as it were, a new branch of domestic manufacture into our venerable city.

Presses of this manufacture are used by the Messrs. Harper for printing their WEEKLY and other works; by the American Bible Society, Frank Leslie for his Pictorials, and by all the most prominent book publishing concerns in the country.

Frank Leslie, in commenting upon the presses of A. B. Taylor & Co., speaks as follows of his own:

"This press has been run night and day for several months; indeed it rarely stops, except to effect a change of forms, which being done it goes on with its ceaseless labor of printing the Illustrated Newspaper. We can truly say that it has answered all our expectations."

The Printer, one of the neatest printed works in the country, thus speaks of

A. B. TAYLOR & CO.

The success which has attended this enterprising firm from the hour it commenced operations, is perhaps the strongest proof of the excellence of their machinery. This machinery embraces almost every kind of printing press in use. Cutting Machines for printing offices and bookbinderies, Electrotype Presses, and Steam Engines suitable for running printing or bookbinding machinery. Their illustrated Catalogue shows: First, their Patent Improved Double Cylinder Printing Machine, Patent Single Small Cylinder Printing Machine, Patent Single Large Cylinder Printing Machine, Perfecting Press, Improved workman, Mr. John McLaughlin, who was sent to our aid by them. For nearly a month he has worked both day and night on the press, and did not leave us until he was thoroughly satisfied that all was right, and of our capability to manage the press ourselves.

BININGER'S OLD LONDON DOCK GIN

A. M. BININGER & Co.
(Established 1778.)

SOLE IMPORTERS,
No. 338 BROADWAY, N. Y.

This DELICIOUS TONIC

specially designed for the use of the MEDICAL PROFESSION and the FAMILY, possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties (Tonic and Diuretic) which belong to an Old and PURE GIN. The business of manufacturing spurious gins, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic,"—"Cordial,"—"Medicated," etc., has become so common, that the public are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a new era in the history of the Trade. We trust that our established reputation—founded upon eighty years of experience—abundantly vindicates our claim to public confidence.

IN. B.
A comparison of "Bininger's Old London Dock Gin" with others bearing similar names, will establish its superiority, and make other Quacks unnecessary.
